

Cormorant RZ

Oriental

Description

A dual purpose variety, Cormorant RZ is equally suited to both baby leaf and bunching spinach production, with a very erect plant habit, a round leaf shape, and an exceptionally dark colour. Leaves are very uniform, which in addition to the upright nature gives less cut leaf when harvesting as a baby leaf, and a high yield potential. Cormorant RZ is well suited to shoulder season baby leaf and bunching spinach production.

Key features:

- Oriental leaf type
- Shiny dark green round leaves with an upright habit
- Suitable for baby leaf and bunching spinach production for shoulder seasons

Resistances

HR Pe:1-13/Sv
